

“Hands Of Prayer”

In Memory of: Olivia Slocum

September 16, 2015

“Hands of Prayer” was created by the students of St. Mary Catholic School in Sioux Falls, SD in May of 2015. It was created to help their friend Olivia Slocum, a 10-year-old girl with stage 4 adrenal cortical carcinoma cancer. The hands on the canvas are those of the students and staff that came forth to place their hands down on the canvas as they said a prayer of hope and healing for Olivia. Olivia and her mother, Brooke Slocum’s hands are the dark blue and light blue hands at the bottom – as a symbol of their signature and prayers.

The canvas was auctioned off and all funds raised went to Olivia and her family. The group of buyers returned it to Olivia to have by her bedside during her fight. Sadly, Olivia passed away on September 16, 2015. She will forever be in our hearts.

The Feisty Fighters have teamed up with Brooke Slocum to raise funds for children with cancer. Brooke states “I know that Olivia would want to give back and help other children going through this”. You can have a replica of this meaningful painting in your home and know that 100% of the proceeds from sales will be directed to Make-A-Wish for a child with Cancer and to St. Baldrick’s Foundation for children’s cancer research.
